Comments
I think it was done very efficiently. We were able to work ahead on assignments which was especially helpful since sometimes I would have a busier week ahead so I could get them done beforehand.
It was very well organized and easy to navigate through.
It was very helpful to review all the video and materials my professor shared with us.
Was relatively straightforward and organized.
It was the right pace and the videos were helpful.
Very supportive
The online environment is chill
It was very easy to navigate the canvas and online resources
It was very easy to find everything. It was organized very well.
It was nothing unexpected from an asynchronous course, had I taken a course with live lectures my experience would have been much different
Overall fine experience
Overall, the online course environment was very straightforward and easy to navigate. The syllabus clearly outlined expectations, and we knew about assignments and due dates ahead of time. One thing I would have preferred is having more consistent deadlines, since sometimes one assignment would be due on Wednesday and another on Saturday or Sunday. Having one main deadline each week would have made it easier to keep track of everything. Other than that, the course was well organized, and the professor was very easy to reach and always responded promptly when I had questions.

What were the strengths of this course and/or this instructor?

Comments

Responded to emails very quickly, and allowed me to do a makeup assignment when I turned it in late.

Cengage is a great tool that was easy to use and navigate.

It is hard to tell because this is an online course but definitely passionate and responsive to students.

He was really caring from the start and it made me motivated to learn.

Checking in with the students weekly and fixing errors when they came up.

He was very responsive to all of my questions and replied to them fully

The instructor is knowledgeable of the course and extremely dedicative to help students through emails.

I mean this was online so I did not have to watch the lectures but I appreciate the teacher always reaching out and checking in with the students.

Very straight forward with the assignments and what the expectations were.

Seemed always available to help, and made it clear that he wanted to make sure everyone was learning and was prepared for exams. There's only so much I feel like an instructor can do in an asych course, and I think he did just fine.

I liked the ability to give assignment questions another chance

Professor reached out

One of the biggest strengths of this course was the instructor. He was very caring, approachable, and always responded to emails promptly and thoughtfully. Even though this was an online course and we did not have required in-person office hours, he made himself very available and was always willing to work with students through any questions or difficulties. The course itself was also very straightforward and organized, so we generally knew what assignments were due ahead of time. While the syllabus and some course policies were strict, I understood that much of that came from the nature of the summer course and MSB requirements. Overall, he was a great professor who made an accelerated online course feel much more manageable.

What could the instructor do to make this course better?

Comments
N/A
More practice material outside of cengage
I think changing the grading system to be highest grade instead of average grade for the homework and problem/application parts would be helpful because that incentivizes the student to try again. But, with the current grading system, I do not want to risk getting a lower grade so I will rarely attempt a problem multiple times
N/a. its Perfect
I felt like the mean scoring system for the homework made it feel more like a quiz than a homework assignment. Change it to take the best score.
He could have supplemented the textbook with other learning materials
Try to make the lecture videos more engaging.
Not much, he was very responsive and outlined the course information well.
Nothing, I think the instructor did a great job.
This is probably outside of the instructor's control, but it's pretty annoying when you have to pay thousands of dollars to take the course, just to have to pay over a hundred dollars for a textbook. Textbook resources should be free.
I would likely change some of the assignment due dates. Although they were good in terms of consistency.
One thing that could make the course better would be having more consistent assignment deadlines throughout the week. Sometimes assignments were due on Wednesday while others were due on Saturday or Sunday, which could make it a little harder to keep track of everything, especially in a fast-paced summer course. Having one main deadline each week, when possible, would make time management easier. Other than that, I thought the course was very well organized, and the instructor was extremely available, responsive, and willing to help students whenever they needed it.

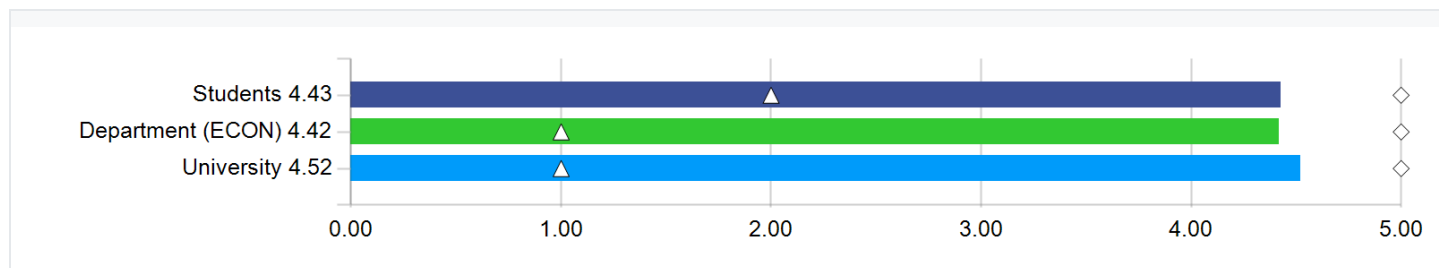

Please expand on the instructor's strengths and/or areas for improvement in facilitating inclusive learning.

Comments
The lecture videos were very informative and taught me a lot about the course even though the class itself was asynchronous.
N/A
The strengths is that he is very accommodating
The course felt more like a self-study style than a lecture-style class.
It was asynchronous, so there wasn't much interaction, but in the times there was, he was open and effectively facilitated inclusivity
N/A
Another area of improvement could be to make sure to check if anyone comments on their assignments. Since the class is asynchronous, it could be good to check all forms of communication. Or in the future, make it clear where people should reach out with help or questions.
One of the instructor's biggest strengths in facilitating inclusive learning was how approachable and available he was to students. He responded to emails very quickly and thoughtfully, which made it easier to ask questions or reach out when something was unclear. Even though the course was completely online, he made an effort to work with students individually and was understanding that people may be balancing jobs, other classes, and different responsibilities during the summer. This helped create an environment where students could feel comfortable asking for help. One area for improvement could be providing a few more opportunities for interaction or check-ins throughout the course, since online classes can sometimes feel less connected. Overall, though, I felt that he was very caring, accessible, and willing to support students when they needed it.

What I could have done to make this course better for myself.

Comments
I think I could have prepared ahead of time for the textbook and review the material.
Make more effort to do my homework before the due date.
Be more proactive in reaching out when I have a problem in the course.
Spend more time taking notes.
N/a
Starting the homework earlier
studied a bit more for exams
Try to make the lecture videos more engaging
I think watch the online lectures but I didn't feel like I really needed them.
I could have been more organized and prioritized my time better.
I could have prepared for the midterm more (as of this evaluation, I haven't taken the final)
Nothing
I would complete assignments earlier as usual
I could have improved my experience in this course by managing my time more effectively. Since most assignments were due at 11:59 p.m., it was easy to put things off until later in the day. Setting aside specific times to complete assignments would have helped me stay on track and avoid procrastinating. This was especially important during the summer because many students have jobs, other classes, and additional responsibilities. Since summer courses move at a much faster pace and cover the same material in a shorter amount of time, better time management would have made the workload feel much more manageable.

09. What were the strengths of this course and/or this instructor?

He was very responsive to all of my questions and replied to them fully

10. What could the instructor do to make this course better?

He could have supplemented the textbook with other learning materials

11. Please expand on the instructor's strengths and/or areas for improvement in facilitating inclusive learning.

It was asynchronous, so there wasn't much interaction, but in the times there was, he was open and effectively facilitated inclusivity

09. What were the strengths of this course and/or this instructor?

Checking in with the students weekly and fixing errors when they came up.

10. What could the instructor do to make this course better?

I felt like the mean scoring system for the homework made it feel more like a quiz than a homework assignment. Change it to take the best score.

11. Please expand on the instructor's strengths and/or areas for improvement in facilitating inclusive learning.

The course felt more like a self-study style than a lecture-style class.

Overall, the online course environment was very straightforward and easy to navigate. The syllabus clearly outlined expectations, and we knew about assignments and due dates ahead of time. One thing I would have preferred is having more consistent deadlines, since sometimes one assignment would be due on Wednesday and another on Saturday or Sunday. Having one main deadline each week would have made it easier to keep track of everything. Other than that, the course was well organized, and the professor was very easy to reach and always responded promptly when I had questions.

05. What I could have done to make this course better for myself.

I could have improved my experience in this course by managing my time more effectively. Since most assignments were due at 11:59 p.m., it was easy to put things off until later in the day. Setting aside specific times to complete assignments would have helped me stay on track and avoid procrastinating. This was especially important during the summer because many students have jobs, other classes, and additional responsibilities. Since summer courses move at a much faster pace and cover the same material in a shorter amount of time, better time management would have made the workload feel much more manageable.

09. What were the strengths of this course and/or this instructor?

One of the biggest strengths of this course was the instructor. He was very caring, approachable, and always responded to emails promptly and thoughtfully. Even though this was an online course and we did not have required in-person office hours, he made himself very available and was always willing to work with students through any questions or difficulties. The course itself was also very straightforward and organized, so we generally knew what assignments were due ahead of time. While the syllabus and some course policies were strict, I understood that much of that came from the nature of the summer course and MSB requirements. Overall, he was a great professor who made an accelerated online course feel much more manageable.

10. What could the instructor do to make this course better?

One thing that could make the course better would be having more consistent assignment deadlines throughout the week. Sometimes assignments were due on Wednesday while others were due on Saturday or Sunday, which could make it a little harder to keep track of everything, especially in a fast-paced summer course. Having one main deadline each week, when possible, would make time management easier. Other than that, I thought the course was very well organized, and the instructor was extremely available, responsive, and willing to help students whenever they needed it.

11. Please expand on the instructor's strengths and/or areas for improvement in facilitating inclusive learning.

One of the instructor's biggest strengths in facilitating inclusive learning was how approachable and available he was to students. He responded to emails very quickly and thoughtfully, which made it easier to ask questions or reach out when something was unclear. Even though the course was completely online, he made an effort to work with students individually and was understanding that people may be balancing jobs, other classes, and different responsibilities during the summer. This helped create an environment where students could feel comfortable asking for help. One area for improvement could be providing a few more opportunities for interaction or check-ins throughout the course, since online classes can sometimes feel less connected. Overall, though, I felt that he was very caring, accessible, and willing to support students when they needed it.

I think it was done very efficiently. We were able to work ahead on assignments which was especially helpful since sometimes I would have a busier week ahead so I could get them done beforehand.
